

CHRISTMAS PICTURES ON THE INTERNET

There's so much out there that it's easy to waste time looking for the right thing. Here are some websites I like.

I found that when using Google to look for big (full-page) pictures it's best to search using something like "Christmas coloring pictures" as most of the bigger ones are in kiddies' colouring-in activities. (Blowing up smaller pics usually produces much poorer quality images.)

Some of my favourite pics from these sites are saved as Word Documents: "Christmas Pictures – Large" and "Christmas Pictures – Small". Nice and quick to use directly from there.

http://www.geocities.com/terrencein/html/christmas_pictures.html

Above all, this has got the coolest reindeer pics I've seen! They work really well with anything Rudolph-related. Click on Pictures to see categories of other lovely pics - esp. Santa & the Elves! These are smallish size pics. (Unfortunately this site seems very temperamental - sometimes it works & sometimes not.)

<http://www.kidsdomain.com/clip>

Other small sized Christmas pics.

<http://coloring-page.net/christmas.html>

For big pics (to fill an A4 page) with bold outlines and not too much detail to make the image unclear.

<http://coloringbookfun.com>

More big pics.